

FreddyLink is a partnership between the community of Fredericton and the Cobocol Area Development Program in the central plateau region of Haiti through World Vision. In the past four years, over 350 children in Haiti have been sponsored by individuals, businesses and even schools in the Fredericton area. These sponsorships provide the education, improved health, clean water, vocational training and business skills to make a lasting difference for these sponsored children and their families. These sponsorships also contribute to the process of taking an entire community of about 20,000 people from poverty to self sufficiency.

By investing in a child today, you can provide a “hand-up”, not a “hand-out”. Through visits to the community, Skype links, and on-going communication, we all can see first-hand the tangible progress this community is making.

To find out more about how you can help make a real and lasting difference, please check out our website (www.FreddyLink.com) or call Bernie Zearth, FreddyLink Project Coordinator (261-4414).

Mayor Brad Woodside donates a goat on behalf of the City of Fredericton to a family in Haiti as part of the FreddyLink “Kids for Haiti” fundraiser.